

FOOTBALL SUSPENSION CONSIDERED

Cancellation of eastern college football games is now a possibility as a result of student violence at last Saturday's Varsity-Queen's game in Kingston.

Seven students were hospitalized due to rioting among the spectators at the game. Dr. Sidney Smith, President of the University of Toronto, stated that if the present trend to violence continues the league might have to be suspended. He said that he planned to discuss the desirability of even finishing out the league this year with officials of the University of Toronto and the other three colleges concerned.

No Bluff
Harry Griffiths, Director of Mc-

Gill's Department of Athletics, said in a statement to The Daily that he did not think that Dr. Smith was bluffing, but that he did not believe anything would be done this year unless another incident occurred, since the season is almost over.

A Year or More
Griffiths stated that in his opinion Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of McGill, would concur with Toronto in suspending the league if there were another incident. If there were a suspension, Griffiths felt that it would last a year or possibly longer.

Appeal Fails
He stated that Dr. Smith had appealed to Toronto students to curb rowdiness, and that he felt that when students disregard the appeal of their principal, the situation is starting to get out of hand.

May be Blind
The injuries at the Varsity-Queen's game were caused when students released gas-filled balloons, and threw lime bombs, smoke bombs and liquor bottles. One student was struck in the face with a lime bomb and may lose the sight of one eye.

Student Charged
Cathy Cameron, a Queen's co-ed, was struck by a flying beer bottle and knocked out. Donald MacNay, an ex-Queen's Science student, has been charged by Kingston police in connection with the incident. Other Queen's students had their hands injured. Two Varsity students were also hurt.

Trouble Expected
Before the game University of Toronto officials had asked students to refrain from such vandalism. Trouble was anticipated because at the Varsity-Queen's game played in Toronto Queen's students ripped down the goal posts in the Varsity stadium and carried them back to Kingston. Attempts at retaliation by Toronto students were expected.

Not a Threat
Dr. Smith said of his statement that the league might have to be cancelled:

"This is not a threat. I haven't all the facts yet. But if that is the only way to prevent development of hoodlumism that might lead to personal injury or death, we will have to do it."

Reckless Minority
Dr. Smith said that he was going to write to officials at Queen's to ask for details of the disturbance. He stated that he felt that it would be too bad if the games had to be cancelled on account of a "reckless minority."
Dr. Smith stated that Varsity and Queen's student officials had done their best to head off activities that might lead to such an occurrence.

MONTREAL, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1955

PRICE: TWO CENTS

Bolshevist Dance Saturday Night

The Iron Curtain will finally be parted on Saturday night at the Queen's Dance. From 9 to 12 on that evening, the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium will be the scene of the final football dance, the Queen's Dance, or as it is termed, the Bolshevist Ball.

Satellite

Marvin Jay and his orchestra will provide the music in an atmosphere provided by cabaret style and Bolshevist decorations. The walls of the gymnasium will be surrounded by an "Iron Curtain." By looking through the loop-holes, all in attendance will witness

"What's Behind the Iron Curtain." Several mysterious features will be carried out, all in the Bolshevist style. Among these will be the launching of a rocket as a satellite.

Annual Vodka

Coordinated with the Dance's theme is a contest sponsored by Old McGill '56. A bottle of genuine Vodka will be awarded to the couple which will outlast a Russian "Haunch Dance". To be eligible for the grand prize, the boy and the girl will have to hold a banner with the inscription "Buy your Annual '56". Judges of the contest will be Alec Bhanos, Chairman of the Dance Classes, Hawk Johnsen, and George Schaffer.

The Dance Committee, under the chairmanship of Don MacSween, urges all students to attend. Admission will be the regular one dollar.

MUSIC LOVERS FORM GROUP

The organization of "Jeunesses Musicales" has formed an English-speaking branch in Canada under the title "Musical Youth of Canada."

Montreal has been most fortunate in being chosen as the first MYC centre. It will parallel the French branch in its aims of providing reduced rates to most music and theatre events in the city. Musical Youth of Canada will thus enable students to attend the Summer Music Camp in Mont Orford. Top Canadian and other artists of renown will be sponsored.

The next MYC recital will be given by the Swiss pianist Carl Engel on January 31, 1956.

Thomson To Speak On Careers In Trade

Mr. Robert K. Thomson, a Commerce graduate of McGill, will visit the University to speak to students on potential careers in "Canada's Trade Commissioner Service". His address will be given on Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 4 pm in Room W 20 of the Arts Building.

Although this time is Dr. Donald Armstrong's regular lecture hour in Economics, interested students from other faculties and courses are invited to attend this particular meeting.

Trade Board

In the field of Commerce Mr. Thomson worked in a brokerage house and with the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in charge of Commercial Rationing for British Columbia. He has also had an eminent career in the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service. This includes the positions of Assistant Trade Commissioner of Bombay, India; Acting Trade Commissioner of Karachi, Pakistan; Acting Commercial Secretary of Singapore; as well as special duties in Ottawa and New Delhi, India.

Commerce Wins Blood Race

McGill's seven-day Blood Clinic finished yesterday with donations totalling 2004 pints, four more than the original objective.

One hundred and forty-one pints were donated during the Clinic's last day. Because of relatively low figures during the last three days of the clinic, McGill could not reach the 2455 mark which she needed to win the Birk's Trophy. Neither could she reach University of Montreal's 2119 pints, nor her 2068, which was the final number after rejections had been subtracted.

Trophy Missing

The Birk's Trophy and Bloody Mary are scheduled to be put on display in Birk's windows within the next few days. The Blood Committee urges those people who know anything of Bloody Mary's whereabouts to give the information over to Tony Straessle. The Symbol of blood-giving supremacy disappeared last Friday night from the Engineering Bldg.

Pledges

A number of pints were pledged from members of various athletic teams, but these pledges cannot be counted towards McGill's record in inter-University competition. These include 25 pints from the Intermediate football team, 23 pints from the senior team, and six pints from the Rugger team.

The 2000th donor was Phil Larson, a second year Medical student.

Faculty Competition

In the final analysis, faculty competition stands as follows:

Faculty of Commerce:	242 pints	55.5%
Faculty of Arts & Science:	656 pints	48.1%
Faculty of Engineering:	680 pints	47.5%
Other faculties include:
Faculty of Architecture:	77 pints	50.3%
Faculty of Law:	57 pints	30.1%
Faculty of Medicine:	70 pints	16.3%
Physio-Therapy & Physical Education - 87	Graduate Studies - 49;	Divinity - 26;
Nursing - 26;	Staff - 25;	Dentistry - 23;
Education - 9; Library School - 3; Music - 2; Social Work - 2.

Residences

In the residences, RVC east wing won over the west and main wings by a score of 63 to 48. Douglas Hall totalled 64, while Wilson Hall lagged behind with 35 pints.

Fraternities

Cosmopolitan Club To Hold Open House

The Cosmopolitan Club will be holding its annual Open House Party on Thursday, November 3rd in the Union Lounge. There will be dancing, refreshments and a film. Everything is free of charge to members but non-members will be asked to contribute 25c.

In conjunction with its cosmopolitan purposes, at every bi-weekly, general meeting there will be either a film or a speaker on a topic of international interest.

Everyone is welcome to all events planned.

DEBATE HELD AT HILLEL

The second noonhour debate of the season took place at Hillel House today. The affirmative side of the resolution, "Resolved that it is more beneficial to Judaism to use English rather than Hebrew in communal prayer," was upheld by Jack Winter and David Freedman, while Brahm Campbell and Ralph Ordower supported the negative.

Len Cohen judged the debate in favour of the negative side, and said that it was "the best heard at Hillel in a long time."

Winter claimed that "It is more beneficial to conformity . . ." to use English, "thus, preventing assimilation". Campbell, retorted that the use of English "is the easy way out . . . and it would be cutting the Jew from his colorful and glorious past."

The chairman said, on behalf of the audience that the debate was most enjoyable, and that another debate would be held Wednesday, November 9, at Hillel House.

Editorial

AN ALTERNATIVE EXISTS

The eastern intercollegiate football league may be cancelled as a result of student violence at football games. Seven students were hospitalized after a melee at last Saturday's Varsity-Queen's game; one of them may lose the sight of one eye.

Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, has said that, "If it keeps getting worse, game after game, we might have to suspend the league to protect innocent bystanders and the hoodlums themselves."

The injuries were caused by students who set off gas filled balloons, lime bombs, and smoke bombs, and threw liquor bottles. Dr. Smith has stated that he plans to discuss the desirability of finishing out the league this year with officials from Toronto and from the three other universities concerned. University officials had appealed to Varsity students before the game to refrain from vandalism. The plea had no effect.

Dr. Smith has also stated that, "It seems too bad to think that the games might be cancelled on account of a reckless minority."

The seriousness of the situation does definitely warrant decisive measures. However, cancelling the league games for the rest of the year represents only a temporary solution. It will not insure against a recurrence three years from now. There will always be present, in any competitive intercollegiate athletic contest the risk of a mob riot. Therefore this approach would require that football games be cancelled permanently. True this will probably eliminate the cause for another such demonstration. There does exist an alternative.

The Montreal Star reports that one of the persons charged with playing an important role in the incident was fined $50 and costs and set free. This punishment seems particularly lenient. It is here that the axe should fall. As long as students feel secure in the knowledge that the student body as a whole will be punished for their misdeeds they will break the rules again and again. Only when they are aware that they as individuals will be held fully responsible will the tide be curbed.

An example should be made of the student in question. Only then will the "reckless minority", fearing for their own careers, be made to conform.

CONGRATULATIONS

The McGill Blood Donor Clinic closed yesterday evening after collecting 2004 pints. The total, though well below that required to win the Birks Trophy, is nonetheless remarkable for this University. Congratulations are in order for all those who participated in its success.

It seems unlikely that McGill will ever be able to contribute more pints of blood than the University of Montreal in this annual blood-letting competition, unless the present character of both universities takes a decided change. The students of the University of Montreal are for the most part concentrated in one building. It is impossible for them not to be influenced by any campaign that takes place there.

In McGill, on the other hand, many of the faculties are far removed from the campus proper, and it is difficult for students enrolled in them to make time for the blood contribution.

The student enrollment here also becomes a decisive factor in the final outcome. The percentage of women students at McGill exceeds by far that at the University of Montreal. Statistics point out that women are much more reluctant to give blood than are the men.

Add to the two reasons already mentioned the fact that the youngest student at the University of Montreal is usually two years older than his counterpart at McGill, and it seems quite out of the question to expect the trophy to settle anywhere but in the halls that it will become familiar with during the course of this scholastic session.

Reply to Challenge

Sir:

In yesterday's Daily you, in the name of the CUS, exhibited a fine display of poor sportsmanship by withholding the conditions of your challenge until the CUS was assured of victory. You also refer to the indirect method in which the EUS accepted your challenge. Our reply was not indirect, sir, as it never was penned.

However, as true sportsmen we, the members of the EUS Executive, are willing to pay tribute to the group which proportionally has done the most for the blood drive on behalf of the EUS membership at large.

Due to the heavy time-table commitments all members of the EUS Executive are confronted with, it is impossible for them to find the time for the journey to Purvis Hall hence, we suggest the Arts Building stairway as an alternate. Your reference to attire becoming to Commencement leaves me at a loss unless you mean tails as worn by all true Engineers to the Plumbers' Ball. If you do mean tails, then we trust that the CUS as men supposedly accustomed to said attire shall supply same, at their expense, fitting all members of the EUS Executive fully so that they possess the same grace and elegance they have at the Plumbers' Ball.

If you and the CUS are in accord with our suggestions we shall be pleased to show our respect; if not, you will have to console yourselves with a short but polite, "Congratulations, School of Commerce."

John J. Gillium
Secretary, EUS

ASUS Reply

Sir:

I would like to express to the CUS my sincerest felicitations on its recent victory in the Inter-faculty Blood Competition.

In yesterday's Daily, however, it presents a post-competition challenge (timed admirably to coincide with the announcement of its victory) that, for three reasons is hardly acceptable to the ASUS.

1. As McTavish St. has recently become a one-way down street, I suggest that by submitting to a parade to Perverse Hall, ASUS would be taking a direction foreign to its ideals, however acceptable and customary such a policy may be for Commerce.

2. As the ASUS does not possess the innate cerebral structural discrepancies that for commerce-men necessitate the camouflage rendered by Top Hats and Bowties, such apparel would be entirely incongruous with the CUS' desires for the mortification of the losing faculties.

3. A mere nail brush would never in a million years remove the "dirt etc." from Purvis Hall.

I would therefore suggest that the CUS revise its punishment somewhat, even to the vanishing point, to suit the crime and the original challenge. I shall look forward to its decision with keen interest?

Don MacSweeney
President, ASUS

Letters to the Editor

Spineless Love

Sir:

... Love (Mr. Kingsbury) conceives as something spineless and maudlin. Sure, love is considerate, charity, forgiveness. But love is also justice. It is hardly doubtful that wilful persistence in sin and continued unrequited love, and I say continued, on the part of the sinner toward God, toward Christ his Savior, take on immeasurable proportions of gravity. Sin, for your information, is a disobedience, a disorder, a breach in the plan of God. It is both insult and revolt. It reflects on the individual and the whole world as well.

... Love, you say, is the cure-all and any punishment immoral. Next time someone comes around and starts digging up your lawn for worms, Mr. Kingsbury, you just stay quietly in your room and love him. See how fast that will stop him. Please learn to mark off love from spinelessness.

Paul Hudon, law student

Yellow Press

Sir:

I am convinced that The McGill Daily is getting more and more to resemble a yellow press sheet; your standards are low and some of your articles and editorials are sickening and disgusting.

I'm referring specifically to your "one-shot" presentation of the fraternities issue which presented a rather short-sighted view of the fraternities side; also to a certain editorial referring to the Gym as a "murky hole" and wondering why (oh! why!) freshettes and freshmen get together despite "halitosis" and "bad perspiration."

More recently we had the articles by Mr. Kingsbury which constitute an infamy and direct insult to the majority of McGill students who believe in Christ God.

Anybody can shoot off his mouth — freedom of the press! — but there must be a limit to this mud-dragging and a certain censorship should be exercised by you.

Sir you have no right to insult my God.

On Sept. 26 appeared in your paper an editorial under the title "Moral Issue" which in an overdrawn "tongue-in-cheek" style misrepresents the facts and offends a certain group of McGill students.

Sir, we believe in freedom of the press and of expression one's own opinions. We also believe it's time for you to check your own "halitosis."

Sullivan Changes Redmen Defence For Gaels

Coach Larry Sullivan was well pleased with the performance of the Redmen in Western last Saturday. "The boys played a fine game", he said "but there are still a few points we'll have to work on for the Queen's game."

The few points Sullivan referred to were Gus Braccia and Ron Stewart, the one-two punch of the Gaels. Braccia graduated from Temple University in Philadelphia and came to Canada to try out for the Ottawa Roughriders. The pass-throwing quarterback was cut by the Riders four days before the Intercollegiate schedule started and he enrolled at Queen's as a first year Arts student.

In the first game of the season, the Redmen were not set for the powerful passing attack engineered by Braccia, and the Gaels scored a convincing 30-10 victory.

Ron Stewart has scored more touchdowns than any player in Queen's history. To date he has 24 majors to his credit which is 16 more than the previous high scorer for the Gaels. The small half-back is an exceptionally fast runner as well as an excellent receiver.

"We are working on a defence to stop those two said Sullivan "but we won't make it public before the first play in the game." Sullivan pointed out that the Redmen switch their defence after every game so that it would be impossible for other teams to scout this aspect of the McGill team.

There was some good news for McGill supporters from the doctor. Bob Hutcheson, who, missed the Western game with an infected foot was expected back in the lineup for the tilt with Queen's. Another injured player, Ron Murphy, is having the cast removed from his leg this Thursday. Murphy tore some ligaments in his left knee two weeks ago against Toronto but has been exercising with the cast on his leg and may see action next Saturday. The thought of Murphy and Vaughan McVey as linebackers pleased Sullivan no end.

Several other players were suffering from assorted aches and pains but Sullivan did not expect any of them to miss Saturday's contest because of injuries.

While the Redmen are battling the Gaels, Toronto will be trying to gain a playoff spot against Western. The Mustangs must upset Varsity if McGill is to make the playoffs this year.

Sullivan was not willing to discount the chances of the winless Mustangs to pull this upset. "They have a good team," he said. "We caught them when we were hot and they had an off day but they may surprise a lot of people against Toronto."

That's really Sam Yuska. Yuska is one of Dick Carr's top pass receivers and is an outstanding downfield tackler and defensive player, as well.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

The semi-annual meeting of the M.W.S.A.A. was held yesterday at R.V.C. with Patty Mowatt presiding.

The motion that women can be on the swimming team and on either of the archery or tennis intercollegiate teams the first term and on either the intercollegiate basketball, badminton or volleyball teams the second term was passed and is subject to the approval of the Women's Athletic Board.

Junior "M" and Senior "M" awards were also presented to last year's first year students, at this meeting.

The small turn out of thirty girls was very disappointing. Tea and refreshments were served.

Water Show

The final tryouts for the water show will take place tonight at 8 pm in the Currie Pool. Room is still available in a few routines and experience is not necessary. If you are interested, but unable to come tonight, leave a notice on the R.V.C. noticeboard or call Joan Orser.

Volleyball

The first games of the Intramural Volleyball Tournament are scheduled for 7.30 pm tonight in the R.V.C. Gym. The four teams playing are Science, Physio, Commerce and Arts. IT IS IMPORTANT THAT YOU REFER TO THE R.V.C. NOTICE BOARD TO SEE IF YOUR TEAM IS SCHEDULED TO PLAY TONIGHT.

Rifle Club

The Women's Rifle Club meets every Thursday from 7-10 pm for practice shooting. Joint meetings within the men's club will be held today and Friday. Experience is not necessary.

GRADUATE PHOTOS

All graduating Engineers and Science students are requested to have their graduation pictures taken at Van Dyck's studios. The deadline is Friday, November 4.

RUGGERMEN BEAT BARBARIANS 6-0

John Kay scored a try and John Jackson a convert in the last minute of play last night to give the McGill Rugger team a 5-0 win over the Montreal Barbarians.

Play was even throughout most of the match but Howie Ryan's squad moved the ball into Barbarian territory in the dying minutes of the game and Kay shook loose for the winning try.

The win gave McGill a record of one win and one tie in city league play and moved them into a first place tie with Westmount. Their last league game will take place on Saturday morning against the Town of Mount Royal on the Lower Campus at 11:30 am. If McGill wins this tilt they the league championship. The Redmen took the Intercollegiate crown two weeks ago with an 8-6 victory over Toronto.

will play off with Westmount for
